BIOGRAPHY

Built for the stage.

Johannesburg-born Wayne Cumming is a singer, songwriter, actor and model whose 23-year professional career spans music, theatre, television and live entertainment.

Since beginning his professional career in 2003, Wayne has built a body of work defined by versatility, powerful vocals and an instinctive connection with audiences. His sound blends pop, soul and R&B with the energy and storytelling of a theatre-bred performer.

His journey began in the theatres of Johannesburg. Roles in Fame The Musical, Footloose The Musical and The Magic Flute established the dramatic foundation that continues to shape his work. His screen experience includes work on the South African television series Isidingo.

Since 2012, Wayne has been a regular Barnyard Theatre performer, bringing his voice and stagecraft to a wide range of large-scale tribute productions. He has also worked as a backing vocalist in Garth Taylor's band.

As a recording artist, Wayne's catalogue has generated more than 300,000 streams. His Afrikaans original Teen My Wil reached number one on Heidelberg Radio, while his English originals include Until I Forget You and Foolin' Around.
